Flexible and open-plan spaces are the key to lateral living and, in the curation of this show apartment, the kitchen and living space are the heart of this home. A marble island and beautiful six-seat dining table are the focal point of the room, providing the perfect space for hosting friends, family and neighbours for coffee and dinner parties.

Through the glass sliding doors the apartment is flooded with natural light, while bespoke feature lighting creates a warm evening ambience. A combination of classic and contemporary finishes discreetly encases state-of-the-art and fully integrated appliances.

Living area

Presenting its own distinct and individual style, this show apartment at Riverstone Fulham is complete with bespoke interiors, including art deco inspired accent tables, a bespoke writing desk and plush seating arrangements to individually characterise the heart of this suggested way of living.

It is well known that waterside living positively impacts our mental health and well-being – helping to reduce anxiety – and floor to ceiling windows offer far-reaching views across the dramatic stretch of the River Thames. Each room is light and airy, while full-length curtains - adapted to be drawn with minimal effort - frame the extraordinary setting of vibrant riverside life in the city.

Master bedroom

Rich, organic textures and an abundance of natural light help to create a seamless transition from outdoor to indoor living, particularly in this grand master bedroom.

Royal blues and a striking headboard matched with subtle vintage detailing create a tasteful and superior space to unwind. A soft, luxurious carpet ensures maximum comfort while the neutral tones create the impression of a natural continuation out onto the balcony.

Floor-to-ceiling curtains bring an extra dimension to the colour scheme, creating a warm, opulent and alluring retreat when drawn. The room is well stocked with storage space – such as discreet wardrobes - and is adjoined by an en-suite bathroom, ergonomically designed with slip resistant tiles and blended edges to prevent slips and trips. The master bedroom boasts a generous balcony that capitalises on the stunning riverside views.

Second bedroom

The spacious second bedroom is the perfect place to host visitors in your beautiful London home. An accompanying en-suite ensures guests have privacy and comfort. The calming green walls and complementing cream wallpaper bring timeless elegance to a contemporary design, while pops of gold and crimson in the soft furnishings enliven the space with vibrant accents. The intricate textures of vintage inspired wallpaper and delicate floral drawings complement the natural comfort of the décor, making for a classic and calming setting.

Balcony

Easily accessible from the master bedroom via glass sliding doors, the balcony allows residents to make the most of the beautiful riverside views. Whether it's as a suntrap for an evening glass of wine or a shelter to enjoy a morning coffee, the balcony offers a serene escape where residents can unwind and watch the world go by.

The Riverstone Club

Health and well-being is central to the vision and future of later living, and central to Riverstone's ethos. As part of that, The Riverstone Club encourages residents to make new friends as well as reconnecting with old ones across the city. Residents automatically become members of The Riverstone Club, allowing them to enjoy the wide array of high-quality amenities on offer, including a restaurant bar, library, private cinema and exercise studio.

Gardens

The landscaped gardens and walkways at Riverstone Fulham have been beautifully curated by the UK's leading garden and landscaping designer, Andy Sturgeon. 'Best in show' winner and gold medallist at the Chelsea Flower Show, Andy is globally renowned. A variety of horticulturally rich spaces have been designed and, through the use of innovative planting, bring to life a shared vision of a space for people to enjoy and in which they feel truly at home. Seating areas and communal spaces are well placed, allowing for moments of respite while also encouraging residents to socialise and be active. In this sense, Riverstone Fulham's gardens strike the perfect balance to create a stimulating and tranquil space for its residents all year round.

With well-being at its core, a bespoke herb garden offers a further chance to relax and interact with nature. Designed by renowned herb expert and horticulturist Jekka McVicar VMH.
